

Calling Early Readers and Reviewers!

Autumnal greetings, my beloveds!

I hope that wherever in the world you are and however your week typically goes, the weather is taking a turn for the crisper, and that you're able to take a little time to enjoy it. Down here in the southern U.S. it's a little slower in coming, but we are at least able to walk outside without feeling like we hit a wall of steam.

This email comes with one reminder and one piece of related news. Let's start with the latter! Stone and Flesh has stepped onto two of the biggest online reading-and-reviewing platforms: Goodreads and The StoryGraph!

Follow the links below and keep them in your back pocket for later so you can follow how I'm doing out in the epic fantasy community, and maybe even add a review of your own!

The deadline for early reader applications approaches!

I'm still looking for folks who not only want to read the entire novel before it's officially published, but who'd be willing to leave me a review! This is what's known as an ARC (Advanced Reader Copy) Team, and they're an author's best friend.

- The ARC Team get exclusive access to a book that's publication-ready.

- They're trusted with the important task of giving their honest thoughts and rating to help future readers judge whether the book is right for them.
- This early hype helps a book gain traction with retailers and increases its exposure, which is crucial for debut authors and especially indie authors.

If this sounds like you (or a friend), it's not too late to apply to be part of the team! Monday 27th of October is the last day, and if you're selected, the eBook will be in your hands by November 1st!

If you've already signed up, imagine I'm reaching through the screen and giving you a huge, tight hug. You'll hear from me separately soon!

Apply for the ARC Team now!

A review or an early read may not seem like it'll make that big of an impact, but believe me, it does. Not only does every "like", every share, every comment, every follow or subscriber make my day and give me the motivation to press forward, but it shows the world that they should pay attention too. That you've chosen to pay attention means everything.

With love and gratitude,

Tamara S. Harker

 Not familiar with The StoryGraph? It's a great alternative to Goodreads and as such is the reading community I prefer. Not only does it allow much more review customization (such as partial stars), but it has cool insights into your reading habits and makes much more tailored recommendations as a result. Bonus points for being woman-founded and -owned. It's free, and you can import your Goodreads data.*
