

An Update on the Kickstarter Campaign

What I'm about to write, friends, may seem contradictory given my last email, but I trust you'll understand. You may recall my excitement when I said that you could preview my Kickstarter campaign page before it goes live in January – that excitement is still there, but recent developments mean that I must, unfortunately, cancel the campaign, and channel that excitement elsewhere.

So what happened? Although it was a disappointing decision to make after telling all of you, it was also an easy one: our pup, Molly, is getting up there in age and needs a surgery that will greatly improve her quality of life. Given what we were going to invest in this campaign, I decided that right now, I would much rather focus on her. I'll be writing a little more about it on my blog, but I wanted you to be the first to know. For everyone who already followed the campaign or spread the word, I'm both sorry to disappoint you and grateful for your early support.

This isn't to say there won't be a campaign in the future! I have lots of plans to make it even better. You'll hear a little more about those later, including an extra-special something just for you.

This means that in the new year, I want to focus on making the March 1st official launch the best it can be: gathering early reviews from my ARC Team (click the image below if you'd like to be part of it!); welcoming new readers with my free sample (not read it yet? you still can!); and of course, polishing the final manuscript. I hope you, as my closest supporters, will continue to spread the word about me and my book.

I'll be in touch soon. Stay safe and well in the meantime, and thank you, as always, for reading!

With love and gratitude,

Tamara S. Harker

Want to do a little extra to support me?
Just $5, even in this economy, still manages to Buy Me A Coffee!

LOOKING FOR ARC READERS!

“Nothing truly dies – it merely changes.”

A weary young undertaker is tasked by a dead hero to find an artifact that began – and ended – a recent war. In doing so, he gathers an eclectic group of veterans and greenhorns almost by accident. Yet finding the artifact is only the beginning, and in solving the riddle of the hero’s last request, they are only met with more questions – about the war, their alleged enemy, and the very nature of their world.

EPIC FANTASY THAT’S A LITTLE DARK, A LITTLE CEREBRAL – AND HIGHLY IMMERSIVE!

Tamara S. Harker

hello@tamarasharker.com

www.tamarasharker.com

13625 Damon Drive
Baton Rouge, LA 70816
USA

You received this email because you signed up on Tamara's website.

You can unsubscribe at any time.

